ROBERT J MOORE

Robert J. Moore, affectionately known as Coach Rob, has a heart for the kids and a passion to serve the community. He has become a father, a teacher, an entrepreneur, an advocate and role model for countless children over the past 25 years. Coach Rob is the son of the beautiful and loving Florence Moore. He was adopted at age 12 by Christopher Michael Smith but his relationship with his mother remained strong. He would soon move to Philadelphia in 1990 and attend Saul High School and later graduated from Maryland Eastern Shore in 2000. Coach Rob is the father of many but a father figure to hundreds of kids throughout Wilmington, Philadelphia and Baltimore.

In 2006, Coach Rob relocated to Delaware and founded the C.H.A.N.C.E Foundation (Character, Honoring, Attitude, Nurturing, Caring & Educate) in which he is still the current President. He started Team Cross-over Elite, a traveling AAU basketball program that has helped thousands of kids see the world. He has started Lil' Dribblers, DBA (Delaware Basketball Association), and Stop the Violence Basketball League throughout the tri-state and Baltimore, Maryland areas. In honor of two youths that participated in his leagues, James Darryl Rogers and Quiare Nesmith, who lost their lives to gun violence, he renamed the Stop the Violence Basketball Leagues to JDR and Coach Q. Coach Rob also sponsors "Me & My Dad Got Game", a 2-on-2 basketball tournament for dads and their children, giving fathers and role models an opportunity to connect and build lifetime skills.

In 2014, Coach Rob created a positive community magazine, New Young Mindz (NYM) giving the youth and young adults a platform to collaborate to highlight positive things within the community. In addition to all the things Coach Rob is doing, he also write plays that speak to all ages regarding struggles in the urban communities of America. Coach Rob has created several outlets for youths beyond sports through the development of a performing arts program. Providing youth of all levels of talent an opportunity to participate in the performing arts helping youth to develop "to be the best they can be no matter the odds stacked against them". This is what Coach Rob inspires to accomplish.

In January 2018, Coach Rob opened The Learning Foundation. The foundation serves the urban community of Wilmington, Delaware and offers several programs which focus on science, technology, engineering, arts and math. The children happily frequent the establishment as a safe haven where they can feel love and have structure. The following year he opened Bell Ame Beauty Lounge. It's a unisex hair salon that teaches children how to do hair. The beauty lounge has created 14 jobs. He continues to open up businesses that are creating different avenues for people in our community to have something to look forward to. In the words of Coach Rob, "None of what I do is done for me. I have lived through not having, not seeing people that care, no father figure with no structure in my early youth". Coach Rob's purpose is to show kids to never give up on their dreams. If you can see it, you can do it. His mission is to give every child a CHANCE. He is a father, a coach, a leader, educator, and counselor giving himself everyday often without financial compensation or recognition. He is focusing more and more on his writing skills with more plays and movies to come. COACH ROB is a man of heart, honor, and humility living his life on purpose.

While Simone continues to develop her skills as a professional dancer and actress, it is her goal to continue to serve in order to create an easier path for the next generation. "Lift as we Climb!"

KIER “JUNIOR” SPATES

Kier “Junior” Spates is a man of many talents—son, brother, friend, comedian, writer, podcaster, inspirational speaker, and radio host, to name just a few. But what truly sets him apart goes beyond these titles. He’s also a survivor, a warrior, and a humble soul on a quest for greatness. These qualities reflect the spirit of this remarkable Sickie Cell champion.

Hailing from Houston, Texas, Kier has made quite a name for himself in the comedy world. He was even nominated for a Daytime Emmy for his outstanding writing on the Steve Harvey Talk Show. Kier is one of the funniest comics you’ll ever meet! He’s served as an executive writer for popular shows like Showtime at the Apollo, Miss Universe, and Little Big Shots. His talent has taken him around the world, sharing the stage with legends like the late Aretha Franklin, Lyfe Jennings, and Anthony Hamilton. In 2005, he was one of the main acts on the “Rickey Smiley and Friends Show,” and he’s also performed for the troops on USO tours in Japan and Bahrain.

Kier’s comedy has resonated with audiences on college campuses, too, lighting up stages at institutions like Texas A&M, the University of Houston, and Texas Southern University. His stand-up has earned him accolades across the Improv circuit nationwide.

On the screen, Kier has appeared in shows like BET’s “Comic View” and “Getting Paid,” and he even played “Dre” in Barbershop Blues alongside Ralph Tresvant of New Edition. He’s been part of several hit stage plays, including “Confessions,” which featured the late Gerald Levert and Kelly Price. You can catch him every morning as the lovable play cousin Junior on the nationally syndicated Steve Harvey Morning Show, where critics are already dubbing him “THE NEXT BIG THING IN STAND-UP COMEDY.”

Kier discovered his passion for making people laugh at a young age. By the time he was fourteen, he realized that comedy could be his lifelong calling. Influenced by legends like Redd Foxx, Eddie Murphy, and Martin Lawrence, he honed his craft and became the go-to funny guy among friends and family. He loved to entertain, especially at family gatherings where he would channel his inner Michael Jackson. His science teacher even let him perform stand-up at the end of the day if the class did well on their tests. Little did he know, he was already stepping into his purpose!

Kier also founded the Kier’s Hope Foundation Incorporated, aimed at inspiring and educating families affected by sickle cell disease. He and his family provide vital resources and support to those in need. In recognition of his incredible work, the City of Dallas declared the first Saturday in June as “Kier Spates and the Kier’s Hope Day” in 2018. The following year, the State of Texas honored him by declaring June as “Kier Spates and Kier’s Hope Sickle Cell Awareness Month.” Most recently in May 2025 Kier was recognized on the Texas Senate of Texas with Resolution 349 for all of the work he does in Texas on behalf of everything he does for people with Sickle Cell. Kier’s message is clear: you’re not alone in this fight. Together, we’re “Working to Change the Shape of Sickle Cell Disease.”

Kier Spates is undeniably a force to be reckoned with. His motto is unforgettable, and he firmly believes that laughter is the best medicine. As Kier puts it, “This Just Got Serious.”

MICHAEL JOHNSON

Star grew up with a niche for music, that was certainly spearheaded by his father, legendary singer, Mikey Spice. Growing up in Atlanta.

Michael got his start in local plays and talent shows, in which he won the hearts of many through his impressive dance skills and smooth melodious vocals. Being very familiar with music early on in his life, through his father, Michael adapted exceptionally fast and his talent grew rapidly as it was nurtured in the entertainment space in Atlanta.

The entertainer would then go on to open for massive acts and performers like Wayne Wonder and Beres Hammond where he truly learned to master stagecraft. It's something we can see reflected in the making of his new single titled Tun Up. The Ricky Myrie

Brian Benson was born and raised in Wilmington, Delaware. At the age of 11, he developed a passion for theatre, music, and sports. He was a member of the classic Delaware music scene, in lending a hand in the development of the Hip Hop album titled "Project X".

This featured music from various Delaware artists, and was produced by Tomorrow's Gold Records. He majored in Telecommunications, and Human Relations, while being a 4 year starter, and 2 year letterman, playing football for Newark High School, from where he received his diploma. Then went on to Hampton University.

Now having the opportunity, to do Theatre, and Movies, he has put his heart into the roles that have been presented to him. He enjoys learning new things and takes what he does seriously, but with a smile. Brian credits his self-motivation and natural talent to God, while encouraging others to stay focused, and continue towards greatness.

Brian is currently working as a Longshoreman. He is looking forward to modeling, and is currently welcoming all new acting opportunities. He truly believes and lives by the fact that "When you put God first, every, and anything is possible.

JANELKA WILLIAMS

Janelka Williams is a Wellness Coach, Therapist, Singer/Songwriter, Pastor, Counselor and Motivational Speaker. Her musical and singing artistry is her first love. Her compassion to see that everyone is well compliments that artistry. After teaching special education in an urban community her desire to counsel youth became imminent. Receiving a bachelor's degree majoring in psychology sparked a new passion over 25 years ago. After receiving many titles in ministry, counseling men, women, and children from all walks of life, she decided to pursue her master's degree in counseling. Little did she know that she would have to endure traumatic life experiences and put that education into use.

Jay is presently a School Counselor in the Gwinnett County School District. As well as operating as CEO of Jay Williams Counseling and Coaching. After many years of teaching, pastoring, counseling, raising five children, workshops, speaking engagements, singing praise & worship, leading music departments, writing, producing and recording music, Jay has wrapped her experiences, education and passions in one. Her belief is that all humans are triune beings. We are spirits wrapped in a body, moved by the mind. It is important that we nurture and cultivate all three mentally (mind), physically (body), and spiritually (spirit). Jay has founded the @The Well Wellness Center Inc., a non-profit organization to educate and bring awareness to mental, physical and spiritual health. Mental health is taboo in some cultures. However, if we normalize well-being people will not hesitate to reach out for help. She is currently pursuing her doctorate in Community Care and Counseling-Trauma cognate from Liberty University. As well as circling back to pursuing her music, singing and acting career.

Jay's slogan is " My passion is that U B Well."

AARON PAXTON ARNOLD

After years of creating content for major brands (ESPN, Home Depot) and contributing to platforms like MSNBC, CNN and Atlanta's Kiss104.1fm, he returned to his passion for performance. His Festival-Nominated short film "I Am A Goddamn Comedy Writer", in which he executive produced, wrote, and co-starred, completed its festival run in 2024. In February 2024, he decided to officially add acting to his bag and began studying with acting coach Carl Gillard in Atlanta via his actors intensive class. Aaron has co-starred in two indie dramas including one titled "Fragile", had a guest role in a comedy-pilot titled "In Your 20s," repurposed a scene, via a short film, from the critically acclaimed stage-play, "Paradise Blue" where he co-stars as the character Corn - a 1940s Jazz Piano Player.

In "Are You Marriage Material?" Aaron plays two characters - The Pastor & Parker. A compelling storyteller with authentic presence both on-screen and on-stage, Aaron Paxton Arnold brings a uniquely integrated background to his acting career. His performance style combines sharp comedic timing with emotional intelligence, cultivated through years of media experience and creative development. Aaron Paxton Arnold has spoken everywhere from Harvard to Capitol Hill bringing fresh perspectives to platforms like ESPN, VH1, MTV, CNN, Forbes, MSNBC, Black Enterprise (B.E.) and joined Kiss104.1 FM's morning show, where, on-air, he mixed his own brand of intelligence and ignorance.
